ST. LAWRENCE K OF C PRO-LIFE WALK 2017 – SPEECH BY SHARON GILL

We live in a world of Fake News, and we always have. From the beginning of creation, the author of fake news convinced Adam and Eve that God was not telling them the whole truth – and they believed him.

In this current time and place in mankind history, we are experiencing a tsunami of fake news, with wave after wave of lies and distortions. Riding the highest and longest crest of that tsunami is the abortion lie – still with us after 44 years.

From the beginning, this evil ideology snaked its way into the feminist movement. At a time when women were fighting for economic and social parity, and for recognition and respect for the objective truth of their biological nature, the feminist movement was hijacked by the sexual revolution that promoted contraception and ultimately abortion as the only way that women could have equality with men. They were told that abortion would set them free, that the child in their womb prevented them from achieving their dreams and their goals. According to this ideology, women were their own worst enemy – it was their biological nature that held them hostage, not the attitudes, stereotypes and stigmas of the prevalent society after all.

This flawed hypothesis was adopted and promoted by the elite, including Supreme Court Justice Ruth Ginsberg who said: “the ability of women to participate equally in the economic and social life of the nation has been facilitated by their ability to control their reproductive lives.” According to Justice Ginsberg and others like her, women are unable to assume any leadership roles in corporations, the military or politics or anywhere else unless they deny their ovaries. This would be like telling a black person that he cannot do (any of the above) unless he changes his skin color.

This massive and convincing assault culminated in the Supreme Court decision known as Roe v. Wade, which was based completely on lies, and refused to consider the humanity of the unborn person in the womb, instead bestowing a superhuman and tyrannical right of one class of persons – pregnant women – to kill another class of persons – the unborn child in the womb, at any time and for any reason – this, in a nation whose people once triumphed over tyranny by pledging their lives, their fortunes, and their sacred honor, for a Truth that was greater than themselves: that all people are created equal and are endowed by their creator with the unalienable right to life, to liberty, and to the pursuit of happiness.

Women allowed contraception and abortion to define them – and unwillingly made themselves and their unborn children victims to the greatest civil rights issue of our time.

And though the feminist movement brought about many good and necessary changes in society, the inculcation of abortion and a contraceptive mentality has caused unbelievable harm to women, to men, to children, and to society. For example:

The roles of wife and mother were no longer held in esteem.

A woman's value to society was decided by her status of employment.

The roles of husband and father were no longer honored.

A unisex approach to life was endorsed.

Recreational sex replaced the conjugal relationship.

Divorce, sexual promiscuity, pornography, and abuses to women and children proliferated.

Children's lives were sacrificed for the pursuit of selfish endeavors.

This is a holocaust of epic proportions that has caused despair and destruction to envelop our very souls. Since 1973 nearly 60 million lives have been lost due to abortion. This is well over one million each and every year, and nearly four thousand every single day.

How is it that something so incredibly and obviously evil was able to weave into the fabric of not only this great nation but throughout the entire world – without hardly an uprising, without hardly a protest, without so much as a stone being thrown?

Joseph Goebbels, the Minister of Propaganda in Nazi Germany said this: A lie told once remains a lie, but a lie told a thousand times becomes the Truth. But a lie such as this needs victims to perpetuate its lie. The lie much become a subjective – it must be made to apply to an individual and her circumstance.

Before a woman even enters an abortion clinic, she has already been told that her unborn child has no value. She has already been encouraged to abort her child – by her boyfriend, her husband, even her parents. If she is poor or unmarried, she is well aware of the difficulties she will face raising a child alone.

At the clinic, she is told that it is just a blob of tissue. She wants to believe this, she may already believe this – she may have no idea of the stages of development in the womb – that at the 8th or 9th week – the time when most abortions occur, her baby has a beating heart and a brain that is functioning, that it has little arms and legs, eyes and ears and all of its organs are present.

She is never told that there are other options, that there are countless pregnancy crisis centers that can help her with all of her needs so that she can deliver a healthy baby.

She is told that she can get rid of her problem quickly and easily – she is given a very brief explanation of the procedure and that she will only experience minor discomfort when the contents of her uterus are evacuated. And when it is all over, they will let her rest for an hour, maybe give her some orange juice, and she can go happily on her way.

If she has any doubts she is reminded that she will be a burden to society and to her family – something they know she already feels, because that is why she is there.

The word "baby" is never spoken to her.

They don't tell her about the emotional and physical pain she will most likely suffer. That she will spend that last hour in the clinic feeling alone, used and abused. That in the silence of that cold and sterile area of the clinic they call recovery, she will hear the muffled cries of other victims of abortion, and be surprised to find out that some of those cries are her own. She will feel like she is being rushed out of the clinic, because you can't stay here, and she will leave feeling out of sorts, in pain, confused, and already regretting the loss of her baby – and at this time, she will call it her baby – not contents of her uterus.

She will spend the next few days, weeks, months, or years mourning the loss of her child, and every year on the date her baby died and on the date she thought would have been his birthday, she will grieve for what could have been – for what should have been.

After 44 years, the abortion rhetoric has not changed much, except maybe to become more beguiling: The Northland Family Planning Clinic in Sterling Heights (yes, it is called Family Planning) has another name on their sign – Serendipity. Serendipity means "the occurrence and development of events by chance in a happy or beneficial way." A sign that hangs in their clinic says "We do sacred work that honors women and the circle of life and death. When you come here bring only love."

And just when you think it could not get any more evil, we learn by a series of undercover videos that Planned Parenthood has been exposed for the illegal harvesting of baby body parts. The videos expose the complete callousness of the abortion workers as they discuss the various ways to manipulate abortion procedures in order to obtain the best samples of baby body parts for the highest possible profit – or as one abortionist states so that she could "get a Lambourgini."

Abortion is not sacred work, it is unholy work. Abortion benefits only the abortionist. It does not honor women – it destroys their dignity. Abortion does not honor the circle of life and death, it regurgitates death, over and over.

Brothers and sisters, we are in an epic battle for souls. The battle lines were drawn a long time ago when Satan, in the first wave of his attack, disguised himself as a serpent with a worked tongue and separated Eve, the mother of all the living, from the heavenly Father who created her – and Adam her spouse silently assented.

In the second wave, this same serpent separated the offspring of that mother from their own offspring by abortion, while the rest of us silently assented.

The third wave of a tsunami is said to be the strongest, and the most deadly. Are we to allow this oppressive and destructive ideology to engulf us, or are we ready to bring the power that lives in us, the same power that raised Christ from the dead, to transform this world from a culture of death to a culture of life?

Just as it is not natural for us to be separated from God, it is not natural for a mother to be separated from her child. It is time for us to reject the author of Fake News and to honor what is truly sacred – the gift of Life, as intended by the Giver and the Author of Life.

As we go forth today, let us all pledge our own sacred honor for something that is greater than ourselves: the sanctity of every human life, created by God and whether born or unborn, shares an equal inheritance to life, to liberty, and to the pursuit of happiness.
